Fall tomato soup with herb focaccia

Sat, 10/16/2010 - 11:15 -- johannagreen

Yes, it was a cold wet spring and yes, this summer yielded slightly less of some of our standard garden goods, but the tomatoes seemed extra sweet and our herbs are really peaking now. I think it was worth the wait.

Last night we made a simple tomato soup [1] and home made focaccia with herbs [2]. These recipes are easy and worth a couple of hours at the end of a long week.

I have posted the recipes under the "recipe" section.

These are based on recipes found in 2 of my favorite seasonal cookbooks.
