

Published on Kitchen Gardeners International (<http://kgi.org>)

Home > Inexpensive and easy to install garden arbors

Inexpensive and easy to install garden arbors

Fri, 12/31/2010 - 11:21 -- amy manning

I visited my aunt's garden recently and was inspired by these arbor/trellis structures that she's made. They are made from rebar that she purchased from Home Depot and roll fencing.

I have a young grape vine that I need support for, and I think something similar to this would work out very well for me! I'll be rigging up something for it over the coming season.

I have a collection of garden structures [1] on a page on my blog should you be looking for more inspiration! These are great projects to accomplish while there's not much else to do.

Image (optional):

