

Published on Kitchen Gardeners International (<http://kgi.org>)

Home > April Fools Day, Snow?

April Fools Day, Snow?

Fri, 04/01/2011 - 04:08 -- spirit2sole

I have anticipated this weekend for a long time, it has been organized, over and over again. I have 38 women from all over the east coast, 7 awesome instructors all gathering at a huge retreat house in Cape may NJ. This is a weekend intensive for Master Herbalists.

The weather is posing a bit of a challenge, usually we are having mild temps, sunny days, perfect for wild crafting. This weekend we are having winter temps and a N'oreaster storm coming. UMMMMM will be challenging. I've been harvesting nettles, clevers, chickweeds, and dandelions to use in our products we will be making this weekend.

One of our instructors is a raw foods chef and another a local cheese maker, the foods this weekend will be awesome!!

I'll take pics and send recipes--If I don't get blown out to sea!!

Happy April Fools!

Group content visibility:
Use group defaults

Source URL: <http://kgi.org/blogs/spirit2sole/april-fools-day-snow>