Moving herbs indoors

Fri, 11/18/2011 - 05:28 -- gracpogue

I grow a few herbs in pots on my deck throughout the growing season. This year it was cilantro, rosemary and oregano. The growing season here in north central Illinois is over though now and I am bringing the pots in before it gets too cold. The rosemary and cilantro like the cooler temps but even they have their limits. It's also time to do a check of the barn and fences before the snow starts to fall and make sure all is ready for the winter season.
