Question Details (optional):

I started my patch 5 years ago and have had a ton of wonderful strawberries. This year there are fewer berries and many of them are on the smaller side. Each year I extend my row by letting some of the 'sisters' root. Do strawberry plants have a life span? Should I be digging out the older ones and leaving the newer ones? I didn't mark what years which plants started. It's just a tangle of plants now. How to improve my yield and quality??
