

pattimair question

Tue, 08/31/2010 - 09:15 -- pattimair

Question:

Too late for turnips?

Group content visibility:

Use group defaults

Answer::

Question Details (optional):

So I planted turnip seeds in late August and they came up in a few days-very rewarding. I had empty space from harvesting potatoes so I thought I would try a cool weather crop-I think that's what turnip is. Am I likely to get turnips in fall and winter? My experience with them in the past is always that they bolt and I have never harvested a turnip. Someone told me they have a special mineral requirement but I don't remember what that was. If you have any advice for me I would love to hear from you.

Source URL: <http://kgi.org/questions/too-late-turnips>