Question: Will Old Seed Starting Mix Work?

Question Details (optional):

Last year, I spent a good chunk of money to buy a (bale?) of Sunshine Pro Mix#1 to use for starting our seedlings. It's a HUGE amount of stuff, though, and we only wound up using half of it! Now I'm in a bit of a quandry. I don't exactly have another $60 or so this year to buy another bale... and I still have this half sitting in my sun room. I'm curious as to whether it's okay to use the mix that I have? It's still totally dry... and Pro #1 is a soil-less mix and no compost in it. I don't want to waste a lot of time if the seeds won't grow in it, but I'm just not sure what the best first step is. Thanks so much for the advice in advance!
