

KITCHEN GARDENERS
INTERNATIONAL

Published on Kitchen Gardeners International (<http://kgi.org>)

Home > mrbobpowell question

mrbobpowell question

Thu, 12/13/2012 - 23:04 -- mrbobpowell

Question:

Hi Folks, I have a question about appropriate ground cover around some raised beds.

Free Tags:

ground cover groundcovers raised beds [1]

Image (optional):

Group content visibility:

Use group defaults

Question Details (optional):

I live in LA not far from the beach, so sort of a mediterrian climate. I'm planning my garden in my back yard, and I am thinking of 4 raised beds. I have plenty of room, and great sun. My question is, what to use for ground cover. I could put in grass, but I have two rambunctious dogs and I am afraid with my traffic around the raised beds, and the dogs running through the yard that the grass will just croak. Also, I think lawn grass may be very water intensive. Any suggestions? I was wondering if there was a grass or a ground cover that may not need as much water as a regular grass, and could stand up to some heavy traffic.

(Note pic below is from before I bought the place. Looks like a wreck!)

Source URL: <http://kgi.org/questions/hi-folks-i-have-question-about-appropriate-ground-cover-around-some-raised-beds>

Links:

[1] <http://kgi.org/free-tags/ground-cover-groundcovers-raised-beds>